

Application to the F.R.S.-FNRS ED15 best PhD thesis award 2023
*awarded in 2024

Title:

First name:

Last name:

Department:

University:

Director(s) of the thesis and affiliation(s):

Title of the PhD manuscript (English):

Title of the PhD manuscript (French):

Date and place of the public defense:

Abstract of the PhD thesis work in lay terms (to be published) (English):

Maximum 250 characters including blanks

Abstract of the PhD thesis work in lay terms (to be published) (French):

Maximum 250 characters including blanks

Key words (5):

I agree to the publication of the above information on the ED15 website and ED15-related material used to advertise the award by any mean.

Private address:

Private email:

Private phone number:

Birth date and place

Signature:

Extended summary of the PHD thesis (English):

Maximum 3 pages Arial 12 with the following structure
+ maximum 2 pages for tables, figures, figure legends and references.

1. Introduction2. Hypothesis and aims*3. Results*4. Conclusions and perspectives*5. Significance

Merits and Bibliography of the applicant:

In English, Arial 12 with the following structure

1. Educational and career track

2. Honors and Awards

3. Peer-reviewed publications

Indicate the impact factor of the journal on the year of publication and the number of citations

4. Invited lectures

5. Chair in national and international meetings

6. Oral presentations in international meetings

7. Poster presentations in international meetings

8. Patents and patent applications

9. Others

Maximum 250 words

If I receive the F.R.S.-FNRS ED15 best PhD award, I agree to present a summary of my thesis work during an award ceremony/seminar in Belgium.